The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: Regarding claim 1, none of the prior art of record teaches or discloses a holographic apparatus comprising a reflecting unit including an opening through which the laser beam is focused to a holographic medium, wherein the beam is reflected back through the opening and a detecting unit for checking the amount of the return laser beam to determine alignment of the opening and the holographic medium.

Regarding claim 8, none of the prior art of record teaches or discloses a holographic apparatus comprising a data mask with an opening for transmitting the laser beam and a reflecting mirror, coupled with the holographic medium for reflecting the laser beam back through the opening and detecting unit to determine alignment of the data mask with the holographic medium based on amount of the reflected beam passing through the opening.

Regarding claim 9, none of the prior art of record teaches or discloses a holographic method comprising the steps of transmitting the incident laser beam through an opening of a data mask and reflecting the transmitted incident laser beam by a reflection mirror coupled with the holographic medium and detecting the amount of reflected beam through the opening to determine whether the data mask and the holographic medium are aligned.
